

New Look of School Milk Plastic Bottles Recycling Success Stories

Serving milk in recyclable, plastic bottles is good for student nutrition and good for the environment. Get inspired by success stories from school nutrition professionals who are motivating children to sustain good nutrition by increasing their milk consumption, as well as sustain the environment by recycling. Print the stories out and share them with principals, the superintendent and school board members to gather support for your district adopting the New Look of School Milk and recycling the plastic bottles.
